

Maximus to start drilling

■ Laura Meachim

Maximus Resources says a follow-up deep diamond drilling program will begin within the month at the Spargoville Lithium Project near Kambalda.

The company is preparing a program of works for drilling intending to test the deep root origin concept at the Lefroy Prospect.

The company expects the one or two-hole drilling program to be approved within four weeks.

The company believes the Lefroy prospect has the essential parameters for the discovery of a Mt Marion style Lithium deposit.

The Spargoville project is within 50km of other projects, including the Mt Marion Lithium Mine, the Widgiemooltha Project, the Pioneer Dome Lithium Project, the Mt Edwards Lithium Project and the Lepidolite Hill Project.

Maximus signed a farm-in agreement with Tychean Resources in August, 2015 to secure up to 90 per cent of the Spargoville Gold Project.

Maximus stocks closed down 0.3¢ at 0.1¢ last night.